

true as the joy of christmas morning. the mirror that sees you just as you are.

A blend of ingenious design and fairy-tale-like wonder, the True Mirror lets you see yourself as the world does, not in reverse as with conventional mirrors. The True Mirror duplicates natural patterns that occur when two people look into each other's eyes, unlike traditional mirrors which force a reversed eye-to-eye meeting that is like no other meeting in the world, meaning you never see yourself as you see other people, and you never see yourself as others do. The initial look at your true self can be somewhat of a surprise, not unlike hearing your voice on a recording for the first time. Slight asymmetries of the face may at first appear more pronounced to you only because you are so used to seeing yourself from a different perspective. Amazingly though, as you continue to peer at your true image over the first few weeks, you are able to see those asymmetries as they truly are — as the world sees them. Seeing yourself in the way you see other people can also produce a deeper self-understanding, and seeing your expressions as others do can help you see how you come across to other people. So take a peek at yourself through your very own looking glass; it's an adventure that only gets better and more intriguing with each look. Framed by hardwood. Mirror, 10" Sq.
